

Muscle Damage and Chronic Cough (Case Study)

Initial consultation: (7/22/2001)

History:

- Nancy Jones, a 54 year old lady, had a painful right thigh muscle.
- She had a painful right hip muscle.
- She had a chronic cough.

Consultation by muscle testing:

- Six species of tapeworm cysts were found, Echinostoma ilocanum, Euparlyphium ilocamum, Moniezia expansa, Taenia solium, Vampirolepis nana and an unidentified species.
- The bronchial tubes contained over 7,000 cysts, the right thigh muscles over 17,000 and the right hip muscles over 2,000.
- The bronchial tubes had 2.2% damage, the right thigh muscles 3.4% damage and the right hip muscles 1.3% damage.

Recommended treatment:

- Nancy used a Dualzap (replaced with Harmonic Quad) unit for five minutes to kill the baby tapeworms and Digestazyme was taken, one capsule three times a day, to digest the cysts. (Digestazyme has been discontinued and Precision Herbs, LLC has formulated a superior product named Digestacyst which has been optimized for digesting cysts and granulomas).
- She took Musl Heal, one-half teaspoon three times a day, to repair muscle damage.
- She took Cart, one-half teaspoon three times a day, to repair cartilage damage in the bronchial tubes.

Follow up consultation (8/22/2001)

Client report:

- She felt well except for some residual soreness in her right thigh.
- Her coughing was much improved.

Consultation by muscle testing:

- No larger parasites were found.
- One virus was found. The Respiratory syncytial virus was in her bronchial tubes.
- Her bronchial tube cartilage damage was healed.
- Her muscles were healed.
- The reticulo endothelium of the right thigh muscles was inflamed from cleaning up the parasite damage.

Recommended treatment:

- Virex, one teaspoon twice a day, was taken to kill the virus along with five minutes on a Dualzap unit.
- Musl Heal, one-half teaspoon three times a day, was taken for another month.
- To soothe the inflammation she took Reticulo, one-half teaspoon three times a day.
- She was healing nicely and did not come back for another consultation.